The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

O Lord: This morning we ask Thee to bless the Senators and all the officers of this body, but we pray Thee in a very special way to be with these young men who are serving as pages. How interested we are in them. They are standing on the threshold of Life's larger activities. Untold possibilities are bound up with every one of them. They are full of eager hope and ambition for the years to come. We pray Thee to watch over them with peculiar care during this formative period. While they are here in the Senate, may they learn those lessons of alertness and courtesy and fidelity which will stand them in good stead in the future days. And grant that in their early manhood they may place their lives in Thy divine keeping, that they may always live for God and their fellowmen. Bless the men of the Senate, we pray Thee, but especially remember the boys. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. SCHANTZ, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, the following resolution:

In The House of Representatives, March 3, 1925.

Whereas, The House of Representatives by Resolution No. 1, adopted on the seventeenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, authorized the Judiciary General Committee of the House of Representatives to inquire into and concerning the official conduct of the Honorable John A. Berkey, Judge of the several courts of the sixteenth judicial district of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Said Resolution provided that the expenses of said investigation should be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the House, and

Whereas, Said Contingent Fund is already so depleted as to render it impossible to pay such expenses out of said Fund, therefore

Be It Resolved, (If the Senate concur), That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to borrow from any bank or trust company a sum of money not exceeding four thousand dollars, for the purpose of defraying said expenses; be it further

Resolved, That said loan be reimbursed either by an item inserted in the General Appropriation Bill or by a special appropriation made by the General Assembly of the Session of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-five.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 446, as follows:

An Act authorizing cities of the first class to enter into contracts or agreements for the establishment maintenance or continuance of maritime service between said cities and other ports by others providing among other things for the payment or guarantee of losses or deficiencies incurred therein resentatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That cities of the first class are hereby authorized to enter into contracts or agreements with steamship companies or others for the establishment maintenance carrying on or continuance by said other parties of marine passenger or freight and cargo service or a combination thereof and to lease and acquire wharves docks and lands for such purposes and to aid in the development of wharves docks and lands on such terms and conditions as may be deemed desirable by the Council of said cities and may provide among other things as a term of such contracts or agreements for the payment or guarantee for fixed periods of losses or deficiencies that may be incurred or met by the other parties to said contracts or agreements in the carrying on of such service together with such other terms and conditions as may be agreed upon

Section 2 All executive functions duties and powers under this act or arising therefrom shall be exercised by the Department of Wharves Docks and Ferries of such cities

Section 3 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, This bill, the first bill on the calendar, is an enabling act to enable the City of Philadelphia to start a merchant marine service.

Now, I think the bill is an illustration of how a few people—I do not believe there are more than half a dozen people in Philadelphia that are interested in this bill; the Mayor, and Director of Wharves, Docks and Ferries and one or two other men have sent this bill to Harrisburg, and I have inquired of the Philadelphia delegation and they have quite an enthusiasm for the bill; but if you can read the bill intelligently after it has been so very much amended you will find, among other things, that the City of Philadelphia must make up any losses or deficiencies that may be incurred or met by the parties in carrying on such service.

It is said that where there is no vision the people perish. I know that where there is too much vision the taxpayer perishes, and I would like to say, if I may say so, that I am a large taxpayer in Philadelphia and I think I have a right to stand up and protest against the spending of my money on a merchant marine service. I think the Senators feel, out of courtesy, that this is a family matter of Philadelphia, and we are apt to go along on each other's bills; but I would like to ask the Senate to oppose with me this bill, and save some of my money as a taxpayer.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I want to say to the Senators that you need not worry much about saving the money of our other Senator from Philadelphia. He has so much of it that he has trouble in giving it away, which he does very profusely. So that part of the proposition need not worry you a bit.

This is part of a campaign on behalf of the City of Philadelphia, on the part of our present Mayor, our Council and our active citizens in an effort to place Philadelphia on the map in a place where it should be. We have spent a lot of money on improving the harbor, in building Municipal Piers, and in an endeavor for a few years to get some sort of a representation along our wharves and the proper use of our docks.

A number of steamship companies have started to do business in our city, and, because of the fact that this business is in its infancy, many of them have not succeeded. It is the endeavor of our present Mayor and Council to see if we cannot establish some sort of marine service for Philadelphia port. The port is a wonderful port,—we have every advantage the City of New York has,—and we would like to have a chance to develop it.

To have a bill here that particularly itemizes in every piece of expense and every procedure necessary to establish this assistance to the marine service would be impossible. We ask you here to vote for this bill. Let the matter come down and let our Council in Philadelphia look after the interests of our own people; and do not worry particularly whether someone has to pay a few dollars more of taxes. And this is not a question that should affect individuals; it is a question for the best good of the two millions of people in the city of Philadelphia and for the future advancement of our city.

I am going to ask on behalf of the other six members from Philadelphia, who I know are all with us, that you give us this opportunity, and pass this bill in order that we may see what we can do in the City of Philadelphia to have a marine service,—and thereby help you all the way across the State, over to the western end of Pennsylvania. It will be a benefit to all of you.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, think this is a subsidy bill?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I think so, yes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it is in the nature of a rebate; and are not all rebates illegal?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I think the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, would better go into court and get that question answered; because every time you ask the Court about a point of law the Court says, "Wait until the matter appears before me and I will decide it".

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to ask one other question: Does not the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, know that Congress has always refused subsidies to steamship companies? Congress has a dismal record on the subject of granting subsidies to the shipping interests. I protest against the foolish delusion of grandeur that now exists in the administration of Philadelphia in this respect; and I ask, therefore, that the Senators will kindly overlook the question of courtesy and vote down this bill. It will help most of the people very much indeed.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

intendents who have been retired shall be reinstated and privileged to serve until the expiration of the term for which they were elected and commissioned

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, and fellow Senators. For fear there may be some misapprehension with regard to the bill now under consideration, I feel I ought to say a few words at this time.

A situation has arisen in the County of Delaware which we consider to be a very unfortunate one. We have a man who has served his constituency as Superintendent of Public Schools for a period of twenty-five years. In 1922 the Convention of School Directors of Delaware County reelected him for a period of four years, as the Act of Assembly provided. In the meanwhile he becomes 70 years of age, but he has also received a certificate from the Superintendent of Public Instruction that he was elected County Superintendent and shall serve in and for the said County of Delaware from the first day of May, 1922, to the first Monday in May, 1926. He became 70 years of age in September, 1923, and was permitted to serve his term, or a portion of it, until June, 1924, by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, when the Retirement Board notified the Superintendent of Public Instruction that that man should not be further certified for payment, and must therefore be removed from the list, that he should not be permitted to serve for the balance of the term to which the people of Delaware County had elected him.

Now, the purpose of this bill is this;—and evidently there had been a misunderstanding between the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Retirement Board, because the original act had provided that each and every contributor who has attained or shall attain the age of 70 years shall be retired by the Retirement Board for superannuation, or, at the end of the school term in which the age of 70 years shall have been attained if such contributor is physically and mentally incapacitated.

When this gentleman was elected in Delaware County he knew naught except that the term was for four years and, without notice to him and without any notice to our constituency, he has been retired under the old act—as we say, unjustly, and, as we believe, unlawfully; because the Superintendent of Public Instruction desires to continue him in office and he is physically and mentally incapacitated. The purpose of this amendment is that any man who is elected by a convention of School Directors shall be permitted to serve out the term of office for which he is elected by the people as their representative if he should become 70 years of age in the meanwhile and should be physically and mentally vigorous.

Our Superintendent of Public Schools receives $5000.00 per year. Under the ruling of the Retirement Board he would receive $1000.00 of the State's money. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the passage of this act would save $2000.00; and yet he continues to contribute his share to the retirement fund.

We believe that as far as the Act of Assembly is concerned the man who becomes 70 years of age during the time for which he has been elected should be permitted to fill out the term whenever the Retirement Board finds a man who becomes 70 years of age is still physically and mentally incapacitated.

Would any member of this body who should become 70 years old during his term of office, want to retire before his term has expired?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think that as Chairman of the Committee on Education I should give some information to which the Senate is entitled, and which the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, did not give them.

I am glad to see—that the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, has changed his mind regarding age. I had the pleasure of backing the Senator for the Superior Court on the basis that the judge was too old to continue service. I still agree with my first standpoint.

The allotted age of man is three score years and ten. Ordinarily most of us do not reach it. The attitude of the Educational Committee is that if this act goes through, it will give to the Superintendent of Public Schools of Delaware County, who is a very remarkable man, the right to continue, but it throws down the bars in the entire sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania and upsets the actuarial basis in your Teachers' Fund. That statement was made to the Committee by Doctor Baish. Now, if it were some special law to continue Mr. Smith in his office I would be most happy to vote for it, but the Senators must remember that if we vote to throw down the bars—full knowledge of which the Directors of the County of Delaware and Mr. Smith had when he was elected, that at 70 years of age he must retire, then you open up the whole question of the revamping of the actuarial basis for the retirement of your teachers. As to whether or not they dispossess Mr. Smith of his position, I do not think the Senator from Delaware meant to convey that, because they took it before the Courts and the Courts told them they were sorry but that was the law, that he had reached the age and he must retire.

I do not think that the Senator from Delaware means to pass the buck to the Department of Education. They had nothing to do with it. The age of retirement is 70. I should personally be very glad to support the bill of the Senator from Delaware if it did not knock out the entire basis, as I have been advised it will, for the retirement of teachers at seventy.

I think that the Senate is entitled to that information from me as chairman of the Committee on Education.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, in answering the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, he has been badly misinformed as to the status. There was an amicable arrangement made; and this is the only case of this kind that has arisen in the State of Pennsylvania with the Attorney General, who went to the Dauphin County Court with a petition asking for a writ of mandamus to reinstate the gentlemen; and the Court decided that it did not have any jurisdiction, because there was no provision in the act whereby an appeal could be taken from the decision of the Retirement Board. We lawyers all understand that. And, therefore, there was no decision that the man abide by the law, and that was the law of the land; and as far as the gentlemen is concerned,—the Superintendent being elected for four years—my friend misunderstands the Act of Assembly. I think probably he lost the drift of the argument, that the old act says, "each and every contributor that attains the age of 70 years shall be retired by the Retirement Board for superannuation forthwith, or at the end of the school term in which the age of 70 years has been attained," and under the authority of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Thomas E. Finegan, this man was commissioned to serve his constituents in our county from the first day of May, 1922, to the first Monday in May, 1926. There is the Commission of the Commonwealth and of the superintendent of the bureau; so, I say he is unlawfully ousted. As far as the Superintendent of Public Instruction is concerned, the Superintendent of Public Instruction to serve for one year, until he was forced out by the Retirement Board—whereas $2,000.00 was saved the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by getting him off the list and putting him on the retirement list of Pennsylvania for these two years. The people of Delaware understood he was elected for four years.

Think of the horrible situation for the intelligent men of this state who are engaged in this wonderful business of education to find that at 67 years of age they are retired because during their term they will become 70 years of age.

My friend on the other side is also mistaken about that Superior Court matter; for my position was that a man who was 80 years of age should not seek another term,—not to retire a man who is 70 or 80 years of age during his term of office. And let me tell you something that happened in this Legislature—a fool piece of legislation, comparable only with this Act of Assembly I am criticising. You know the Marshall bill, which provides for the retirement of judges? They must be 65 years of age. That bill is now in the Senate for consideration. If that bill should become a law then the Chief Justice of Pennsylvania, Chief Justice Von Moschisker would be retired from office,—he would not be able to go on to the end of his term but must be placed on the retired list because he is 62 years of age. That is the kind of legislation that is contemplated in this bill,—illy advised, poorly conceived. My contention is that a man 70 years of age who is not mentally and physically incapacitated should not be retired before the end of the term for which the people have elected him, and for which the Superintendent of Public Instruction has given his commission.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I should like to ask the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, whether or not the law is, as it now stands, that at 70 years of age the teachers are automatically retired. Is that not the law, and was it not the law when the Superintendent of Schools of Delaware County was elected by the convention in Delaware County?

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, I will quote the language of the act for the third time, and that is the answer I will make, that "each and every contributor that attains the age of 70 years shall be retired by the Retirement Board for superannuation forthwith, or at the end of the school term in which the age of 70 years has been attained."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I want to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, seems to have a tendency to throw a smoke screen on this. If a man arrives at the age of 70 years in January of the school term ending in June, that is the time he would retire under the rulings of the Retirement Board,—he does not have to wait until January but may retire at the end of the school term. There is nothing mysterious about this. It is very plain,—it is a question whether the Senate wants to upset the actuarial basis.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, there is no provision in the old Act of Assembly, as far as the term is concerned. With reference to the election of the Superintendent, that is an arbitrary ruling as far as the Department is concerned.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 686, file folio 1825, on page 8 of today's calendar, Bills on Final Passage Postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar by Mr. Lorenzo D. Thomas.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 686, entitled:

An Act regulating and providing fees of the several clerks of Quarter Sessions of the several counties of this Commonwealth other than in counties of the first and second classes.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Thomas, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BREWSTER. I would just like to know the purpose of this bill; is it a fee raiser?

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. While it is indeed a fee raiser, the fact must not be lost sight of that the fees as they obtain on the statute now were those which were created in 1867, and I would just like to submit to the gentleman from the western part of the State or any other lawyer whether or not conditions are not different from what they were fifty-two years ago. We are just bringing the thing down to the day in which we live. We conclusively proved two years ago as well as yesterday that there is an equity about this thing which merits our earnest consideration and there is absolutely nothing pertaining to the bill as it is presented that is contrary to the ethics of sound business practices.

Mr. BREWSTER. I feel this way, ladies and gentlemen of the House, coming from a small county of the seventh class, there is no demand, in my county at least, for any raise of fees. Now it might be in the county of the size which is represented by the sponsor of the bill. We people up in the rural districts, in the small counties, such as I represent feel that any measure of this kind is going to mean an increase of taxes on our people. So far as my considerations are concerned for my constituency I shall be compelled to vote against the bill for that reason.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I have an idea that the member is considerably misinformed. We know that the salaries connected with the officials in counties of the seventh class are taken care of by a salary, whereas the county from which I come of this class is on a strictly fee basis and I think that was sufficiently set forth in the argument of yesterday. Thank you.

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker, in counties of our class they are not taken care of by salary. We do not have our clerks of the quarter sessions on a salary basis. It is not being done in counties of the seventh class, at least not in my county.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 539, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two), entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" eliminating from said act the provisions for the taxation of bank stock on the par value thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is presented to you for your consideration as a result of the work of the tax commission and applies to tax on the bank stock of the banks of Pennsylvania. The banks of Pennsylvania heretofore and up to the present time have had a choice in the payment of taxes between two methods, one a tax of ten mills on the par value of the bank stock or a tax of four mills on the capital, surplus and undivided profits. That any alternative method of taxation is indefensible, needs no argument. That any taxable in Pennsylvania or in any other State of this country should have the right to choose between one method or another, depending by which method the lesser amount of tax might be paid is indefensible and requires no argument.

I have on my desk a tabulation prepared by the Auditor General for the benefit of the Ways and Means Committee, the result of which discloses that at the present time, under the present law, the tax on bank stock paid on the basis of ten mills on the par value nets the Commonwealth annually approximately eight hundred thousand dollars. By the same tabulation if those banks would pay on the four mill basis on capital, surplus and undivided profits the Commonwealth would receive approximately one million two hundred thousand dollars or in one year a difference of four hundred thousand dollars and in the biennium eight hundred thousand dollars. Aside, gentlemen, from the amount of money involved, aside from the monetary benefit to the Commonwealth, the Ways and Means Committee, for which I now speak, feels that in the system as developed by the Tax Commission this House should stand unanimously for the principle that an alternative method of taxation is not sound. There are in the Commonwealth banks that pay as little as 1.1 on the basis of their capital, surplus and undivided profits. That condition, gentlemen, should convince you unquestionably that this state of affairs should be cured. When the Legislature passed the present law it never contemplated that any bank should pay less than four mills but we find from this tabulation, which is accurate, that there are banks which pay as little as 1.1. I have another tabulation which shows a large number of banks whose capital is in excess of one hundred thousand dollars, paying as little as 2.5; and there again I want to point out to you that the result of this legislation, the result of the present law, contravenes and stands in opposition to the intention of the legislature as originally expressed in the legislation about which I have just talked.

Gentlemen and ladies of the House, I submit to you that any tax law which permits an alternative method of payment is not sound and this House should go on record now in opposition to that law. The only effective way in which the House can express its self in opposition to that law is to vote favorably on the bill now before us for consideration.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to give my hearty concurrence to what has been said by our friend from Philadelphia, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. The members of the House who were present two years ago, will recall that in 1923 substantially this same bill passed the House, I think with unanimity, and then afterwards was either held up or defeated in the other branch. In other words, this House has considered this question before. What it practically means is this; In 1897, when they put on the bank stock tax, they put on, as my friend says, these two alternative methods of taxation, and gradually as time goes on, the effect of having these alternative methods has caused an injustice, one group of banks paying four mills on the book value of their stock and the other group paying ten mills on their par value. Now, some of the banks have kept the par value low and have simply added profits to surplus and if following the ten-mill method, they have paid nothing on the surplus; for instance, a bank that has one million of capital which is paying on the four-mill method will pay four thousand dollars, but a bank that has one hundred thousand dollars of capital, and ninety thousand of that is surplus, paying on a ten-mill basis, will only pay one thousand dollars tax, or one-fourth the tax of the other bank. Now it is because of that inequality which the old law permits that it seems the only way to get all these institutions on equality is by supporting this measure. As my friend says, it yields additional revenue for the Commonwealth. It asserts the principle of equality that those in the same kind of business shall be taxed on the same kind of basis and this bill is intended to accomplish that purpose and therefore I ask you to support this bill.

Mr. HARER. May I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HARER. I would like to ask if this bill in reality is not a revenue raiser, and to what extent in amount of money?

Mr. STERLING. This bill incidentally raises revenue. The bill is not submitted to this House for the purpose or raising revenue. The bill is submitted to this House for its consideration to equalize taxation in a given class. The amount of revenue that is incidentally raised is approximately eight hundred thousand dollars in a biennium.

Mr. HARER. One more question: Don't we have other laws, tax laws, that in effect are not equalizing taxation on certain kinds of industry?

Mr. STERLING. Two wrongs never made a right.

Mr. STORB. I would like to ask as to the valuation of this stock, whether the Auditor General is going to dig in and put his own valuations on the investments and securities of the bank? Before this, we paid on the ten-mill basis, and the question as to the value of this stock under the four-mill tax now is, who is to appraise the value of that stock?

Mr. STERLING. For a long time past, the Auditor General has accepted the statements as submitted to him by the banks. I know of no change contemplated and know no reason for the change.

Mr. HAAS. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen, just as a matter of information, this bill, if passed, makes the tax the same as the present Act under which the trust companies are functioning, excepting that rate on the trust companies is five mills and this is four mills. It seems to me that if this session of the Legislature wants to do something that is right and just on the question of taxation, the one thing we should do is make an effort to equalize taxation. That is the main purpose of this bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Almighty God: We bring to Thee our tribute of praises and gratitude for Thine unfailing goodness. Thy mercies are new every morning and fresh every evening. We thank Thee for life and health and strength, for food and raiment and a shelter. We are thankful for our friends on earth, and above all else for our friendship with Thee. Help us to so live that in some measure we shall be worthy of all Thou art doing for us. Forgive us for our sins. We are very imperfect. We do many things we ought not to do, and we leave undone many things that ought to be done. In the days to come may we be more obedient to Thy will.

Bless the Senators as they meet here this evening, and direct them in their work. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 540, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the signing endorsing and issuing of negotiable instruments by corporations and actions thereon against and defenses by corporations to such instruments

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I regret very much to have to continuously oppose the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, but this bill is the same bill that the Senate defeated here once before. It is true that it comes out in a new dress, like the spring is against the winter, but it is the same old bill and it means the same thing and I cannot understand why the Senator presses the point when the Senate once has decided that a corporation should not assume the responsibility of notes that might be falsely used by the corporation. I want to direct the attention of the Senate to that, so they may know what they are voting on. It is the same bill, in substance, that was defeated on the floor of the Senate some two or three weeks ago.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I want to say to the Senator from Allegheny that he need not feel in any way embarrassed at any time in opposing any bill that I have introduced because, I invite his opposition whenever he thinks he is right, so that he need not apologize along those lines at any time.

This bill is not the same bill that was here before. This bill was drawn as a new bill to meet the objections that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, presented at the time, and in conformity with an opinion of Justice Kephart, of the Supreme Court. It has been changed completely. The objections that he made at that time have been removed. In other words the present bill provides that a note must be signed by two members of a corporation, two of the officers, and the only thing that it does is that if two members of a corporation should happen to send out fraudulent paper to the public, the mere fact that the by-laws of the corporation may not have given authority to those two members to sign shall not be a defense. I want to reiterate what I said at the last time Senator

Barr objected, that it is better that a corporation that issues negotiable instruments should be made to watch their clerks and employees or their officers, than to let the innocent public, who invest its money in their negotiable instruments, be cheated. I say again at this time it is a bill that all people who are interested in common honesty ought to support. There is no trick in it; there is no scheme in it; it simply provides that when an institution of any kind sends its negotiable instruments broadcast to the public they ought to be big enough to protect the public from misdeeds in their own institution, rather than make some innocent people on the outside pay their money out and then be met with the statement "Well they did this, of course, they were crooked, and, of course, you are cheated and you lose your money, but our by-laws did not give them authority to sign those papers."

Now the last negotiable instrument bill I had here provided that one officer of a corporation issued these papers. That has been changed and this bill make it necessary in all negotiable papers that at least two members of a corporation shall sign and any corporation that will have in their employ two such men as will do fraudulent acts and issue paper when they have no right to issue it,—I say that institution is not watching its own business and the public ought to be protected against any institution that will be so careless as to have two dishonest people in their employ at one time. I cannot see where there is a thing in this bill that is going to hurt anybody.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I was surprised to see this bill on the calendar again to-night, because I thought we had a different understanding in respect to it. As was said by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, it is the same bill in a new dress and every time it appears it is more objectionable than the preceding time. This bill actually would revolutionize the law of negotiable instruments in Pennsylvania. For a great many years Pennsylvania and adjoining states have tried to harmonize the law in respect to negotiable instruments, and this bill will not do that. It not only makes the corporation a guarantor for the little officer who may take advantage of the corporation and bank, for instance, but it does more. This bill prevents a corporation from issuing a negotiable instrument unless that corporation endorses the paper. The reason for that is not apparent to me. It does not provide, as the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, says, that it must be made and signed by the corporation through two officers, it reads that the corporation may not issue a negotiable instrument unless the same is endorsed in the name of the corporation and is signed by those two officers. It is entirely revolutionary. Corporations do not want to endorse the paper as well as make it and unless there is some cogent reason, it seems to me, why the law should be changed. something more than has been said here, the Senate ought not to pass the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 626 (House Bill No. 35) the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I do not know what the purpose of this motion is but this bill came out of the Committee on Judiciary General, and if the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, wants a hearing or anything else, we would be glad to give it to him.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, that is the purpose of the motion.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would be perfectly agreeable to that if the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, sends it back to the committee from which it came. This is not a dry or wet measure; it is strictly a measure on judicial procedure, it was rightfully in the Committee on Judiciary General, and I think that committee is well able to handle this proposition. I cannot see why the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, should want to take it from the committee in which it was rightfully placed. I have no objection to sending it back to the committee from which it came, and I will ask to amend the motion of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, to the effect that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General, from which it came. I think as a matter of fairness to that committee that is the committee to which it ought to go,—unless the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, will state before this Senate body that he is of the opinion that before that committee they will not get a fair and honest hearing. If he makes that statement I am perfectly willing to have it taken into the Law and Order Committee.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I might say, in answer to the suggestion of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, that I believe that any bill that comes before this body and goes before any committee of this body will get a fair and impartial hearing, whether it be the Committee on Law and Order or the Committee on Judiciary General, or any other committee; but this particular bill, relating to search warrants, ought to have been in the Law and Order Committee originally. It has to do with the enforcement of the Act which we passed in 1923. It should have been considered by the committee which had to do with the passage of the Act of 1923, the Snyder Enforcement Act.

Now, if it were necessary I could point out to the members of this body twelve or fifteen important particulars in which this particular bill is in violation of the decisions of the Superior Court of this State relating to search and seizure. It is not a question of fairness one way or the other. I have no doubt the committee which considered this bill would give it entirely fair consideration; I am not suggesting that they will not; but it does seem to me this bill ought to go back to the Committee on Law and Order, to consider legislation which was passed in 1923 and pending legislation having to do with the enforcement of the Prohibition Act. The very purpose of search and seizure is to secure uniformity, and the purpose of my motion was to see to it that this bill goes to the Committee on Law and Order and be considered in connection with other legislation now before this Assembly.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, I wish to state that, as I understand it, the Committee on Judiciary General is composed mostly of members of the bar; and if he has ten or twelve reasons, whatever they might be, to show that this is in violation of any other law, they would be the men who would know. We all have the utmost respect for Mr. Stites' ability as a lawyer, and we surely will listen to him. There is no question about that. But this is an Act that affects not only liquor but, being a question of search and seizure, applies to anything in which a search and seizure warrant may be issued, not solely for liquor; and it was properly put in the committee where it belongs. So I think, while I do not care personally,—it does not hurt me,—that out of fairness to every member of that committee this bill ought to go back where it came from; and if the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, or anybody else can show this committee that a mistake has been made,—and he is a member of that committee,—I know they will all be only too glad to listen to him.

This is a most unusual proceeding, to take a bill from the committee in which it rightfully belongs and put it in some other committee where it does not belong. It is a reflection on every member of that committee, including the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, who is a member; and I am talking for the benefit of every member of this Senate who is on that Committee on Judiciary General. But I know, and I say again, for the benefit of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, and everybody interested in the law enforcement measures, that this bill will get the fair consideration it deserves,—as much so in our committee as in the Law and Order Committee, and with a number of Senators who can better understand what the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, is talking about, possibly, than can some of the Senators on the Committee on Law and Order who are not members of the bar. And I again amend the motion, to the effect that this bill be referred to the Committee on Judiciary General, from which it came.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I made the request that this bill go to the Committee on Law and Order, but my request came too late. I think it should have been committed to the Committee on Law and Order originally, and I will say that if it is so committed it will be given a fair hearing, with fair notice to everybody.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Stites and Mr. Barr and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27.

RESOLUTION.

EXTENDING A VOTE OF THANKS TO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE INAUGURAL COMMITTEE.

Mr. HARDING offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolution

Whereas,

Alexander, the Great,
Of the Keystone State,
Marshaled the lawmaking forces
Enticed them away
Inaugural Day
To spend their own resources
Took no command
At reviewing stand
Prepared no lunch nor dinner,
No cabs, no cars,
No guides, no bars,
For either saint or sinner;
Led not the cheers,
But shed salt tears
When sorrel horse and master,
Big hat swung low,
To friend and foe,
Went past without disaster.

And Whereas,

With faces drawn,
Their leader gone,
The solons homeward hie,
Desire to know
The truth, if so,
What made our Alec. fly;
Therefore, Be it Resolved, That
Thanks be voted
To him who devoted
Time to making plans
For the inaugural trip
With no "hooch" on his hip
For the Dawes and Coolidge fans.
Be it Further Resolved, That
Till he can explain
In a serious vein
His absence; he should wait
For two whole days
Before he says,
"I wish to interrogate."

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 655, file folio 3337 entitled:

An Act to promote the safety of travelers and employes upon railroads by compelling common carriers by railroad to properly man their trains be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the committee.

Mr. HUBER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as Chairman of the Committee on Railroads, the committee that considered this bill, I feel it my duty at this time to arise in defense of the action of the committee. Last week a hearing was had on this bill and both sides presented their case, after that the committee met and came to the decision that the bill be reported with a negative recommendation. The committee I feel has thoroughly considered this bill and I feel at this time that the action of the committee should be sustained and vote no on this motion.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker the idea of getting this bill back on the calendar is for the purpose of amendment which I feel would meet the approval of a great many members who did not approve of the bill as it stands. That was my idea of getting it on the calendar so that it could be re-referred.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the committee gave very careful consideration and hearing to this bill. We went over it very carefully. It was a matter that we thought about for weeks and the committee came to the conclusion that the bill ought to be negatived.

As one of that committee and remembering what has happened in this House before, it was the opinion of myself and some others that the bill ought not to be considered until a fair test of the existing law have been made. There has been no test of the existing law, and I think it ought to be tried out and then if it don't work out as provided in that law, then let us do something, but until an actual, real, bona fide test of the law has been made why should we say that the law is bad.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the committee on Railroads, and one who voted in the committee to bring this bill out with an affirmative recommendation, I oppose the motion to put it on the calendar at this time. The committee, as the gentleman from Philadelphia has said, had a hearing, all the facts were brought out the sponsors of the bill had an opportunity to bring before the committee any facts that they had, which I presume they think they did. After a fair hearing in the committee, the bill was negatived and I think this resolution ought to be voted down.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I have always been in favor of sustaining a committee. If you were to report every bill that was introduced your House would be jammed with so much business that you would never get through. Why not sustain that committee in its negative report? I was a member of that committee, I was not there and did not vote yea or nay. I heard part of the testimony that was offered and introduced on both sides, and I am heartily in favor of sustaining a committee. If we are to report a bill with a negative recommendation and then not have the committee sustained, what is the use of having a committee unless you stand by it. Therefore I ask each and every member here to stand by the committee in whatever they do.

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am a member of that committee and I recollect that the only reason given there for the bill to be negatived was that it was a matter to go before the Public Service Commission, that this matter should be in their hands entirely, so that when the measure came before the committee I very readily voted to report the bill negatively, and I think the committee should be supported.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am also a member of that Railroad Committee. Had there been any division of opinion in that committee I would have said, that the place to fight that out was upon the floor of this House, but there was not one voice in that committee raised in protest against reporting this bill to the floor with a negative recommendation. I listened very attentively to the hearings for and against the merits of this bill, and after listening very attentively while that hearing went on I came to the conclusion along with the rest of my colleagues on that committee, that this is not the time for a bill of this kind to be passed. They claim we have remedial legislation upon the statute books, and I agree with my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, that until such time as that legislation is tried and found wanting, until that time we should sustain this committee in its action of last week.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on last Tuesday afternoon there was a public hearing held on this bill in the Legislative Caucus Room. Every question that came up there was given full consideration. This is not the first time that this bill has come before the House, and from what I can understand it will not be the last time. Now, I think Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that in as much as the bill was treated fairly and honestly at that public hearing, just as it has been treated fairly and honestly in all the sessions that I have been here in the sessions of this House, it is a matter for the Public Service Commission to act upon, and the law states that all grievances shall be taken to the Public Service Commission. That is where they should take them and not bring them into this House. I therefore ask you members of this House to vote no on this resolution.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I have been listening attentively the last ten minutes about the fairness of the hearing. Why, the railroaders only had half an hour to present their case, and present it as it ought to be presented. Talk about fairness you didn't give them time to present their case. Then as soon as the hearing was over the committee did not go into executive session there and wandering around the House I saw members running around and looking where the committee was going into executive session. By this time that committee had gone into executive session and voted on it by a vote of seven to four, so that I don't think the railroaders got a fair shake. That is my idea in making this motion, and I would ask Mr. Speaker, for a roll call on this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Christian Miller and Mr. Stock.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, for a number of years the members of the House and Senate, under the auspices of what has been named the Legislative Sons of St. Patrick, have always given a banquet. This banquet has been arranged to take place on the evening of March 24th, at the Penn Harris Hotel, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. It will be necessary for the members of the House and Senate to secure their cards as early as possible, because the tickets are limited in number. Those tickets can be secured by calling on the Secretary of the House Appropriations Committee on the first floor. If there are any of the members here tonight that I can spare a ticket to, I will be glad to help them out, but you can find the tickets in the office of the House Appropriations Committee, and I would request that you go to the Secretary for them. Now, this is a very, very prominent event in Harrisburg. Those who have been here for years know exactly what a good time you have always had, and the new members will be initiated. Whether you are Irish or not, you will be Irish on the 24th of March; and therefore, we ask you to arrange for your ticket just so quickly as possible.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks upon the question of person privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Stadtlander,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 183, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one two three and four of article fourteen of an act approved the seventh day of March one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws twenty) entitled "An act for the government of cities of the second class" providing for the division of such cities into councilmanic districts and for the election and compensation of members of council

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Counties and Townships for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr HARRY A. LITTLE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Burd P. Evans.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 76, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred thirty-five of an act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto" by increasing the compensation of supervisors

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BIDLESPACHER. Mr. Speaker, this bill proposes to raise the salaries of the supervisors in second-class townships from $3 to $6 per day. I represent a county in which we have about forty-two township. So far as I know, there is no occasion, in our county at least, and in the townships of our county, for an increase in the pay of supervisors. We get first-class men to serve at $3 a day, and I see no reason why we should double their pay at this time. For that reason, I am opposed to the bill.

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman evidently is not familiar with the bill. The bill does not raise the salaries. It gives to the auditors of the township the right to raise the pay or wages for services rendered by the supervisors when they are actually employed in working upon the roads with a pick and shovel or in the line of their duty in inspection. The bill does not increase the salaries from $3 per day to $6 per day, but it gives to the auditors of the townships the right to pay the supervisors $3 minimum instead of $2, and $6 maximum instead of $4. The object of this bill is to secure for the townships a more efficient corps of supervisors. It gives an incentive to the supervisors to perform their duties properly and to properly serve the public. As it is now, the supervisors being paid a maximum of $4 would be receiving less money when actually employed upon the roads than the laborers whom they employ to work for them on the same roads. This bill went into committee on the 19th of January, and the committee spent from the 19th of January until the 3rd day of March considering it. After a long and due and careful consideration the bill was reported out of committee as committed, and to sustain those who are back of this bill and to help get better supervisors, and to sustain the wisdom and action of your committee, I ask that this bill be passed and that you vote "yes" on the measure.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Burd P. Evans, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. Oh! yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. As I understand it, the only purpose of this bill is to get a better class of supervisors in second-class townships?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. I said that was the purpose of the bill, but it has other laudible purposes, and I hope that you do not understand that I am confining myself to just that one point.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Does the gentleman know the law, at the present time, as to first-class townships?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. No, I don't; I haven't anything to do with the law in first-class townships. So far as the operation of this bill is concerned, it does not touch upon that or effect it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Who directs the work of the supervisors on the road?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. In what case?

Mr. ALEXANDER. In the case of second-class townships.

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. That is directed by the public itself.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In what way?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. By Public opinion, the same as you and I.

Mr. ALEXANDER. That is when they are elected?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. Yes, and after.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Who keeps tab on their work on the road?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. The auditors.

Mr. ALEXANDER. How?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. By vising their accounts and taking care of what is right and passing on it, and by throwing out what is wrong.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Who checks up the number of days they work on the road?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. That is subject to the vise of the auditors.

Mr. ALEXANDER. At the end of the year a bill is handed to the auditors and the auditors go over it, and they say "Is this all right?" and the answer is "yes", and the auditors put their "O. K." on it?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. I think the supervisors are honest men the same as you and I, and I do not think it is fair for me to presuppose that we have a lot of bums and dishonest men as supervisors. I do not think it is fair to presuppose that the information they bring to our auditors is not correct. I think they are all honest men.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I am glad my friend has finally admitted that we have a good class of men acting as second-class supervisors. He said in the beginning that he wanted a better class of men. He winds up by saying, after he gets angry with me, that they are all honest, good men; therefore; this bill has no purpose whatever. I represent the county of Delaware in which there are a number of second-class townships and a number of first-class townships. I think in the beginning that the law relative to second-class townships is entirely wrong. In the first place, it is against public policy to permit officials to contract with themselves, and that is exactly what happens in second-class townships. Now the law relative to first-class townships, which everybody knows, is a much more important factor than second-class townships. The law prohibits the commissioners in first-class townships from contracting, in any way whatsoever—either directly or indirectly with themselves. Now we know what happens, just as the gentleman has said. In the case of some of the supervisors, they go out and work a day or two on the road, and you men have seen how they do that work. I have seen more shovel handles broken by these gentlemen who work on the road, not by using them but by leaning on them. Nobody checks up on them except themselves. Just as I said, at the end of the year they hand in their bill to the auditor who put his O. K. on it. As I say, this is wrong in its inception; they should not be permitted to contract with themselves, because it is against public policy, and that is the only place I know of, in second-class townships, where that is permitted. I have no personal interest in this except that I represent some second-class township, and in those townships the supervisors are opposed to this bill because they think that in principle it is entirely wrong. In fact, the ones who are asking us not to vote for it do not work on the roads themselves but are opposed to the principle of contracting with themselves.

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, usually the disputes which we hear in the House are caused by a difference of opinion between lawyers. Unfortunately, on this occasion, a farmer is drawn into a dispute by an attorney. You can hardly expect an attorney to agree with you on any particular point, especially one where manual labor is included. It has been suggested that this is a salary raiser. It is nothing of the sort; it is simply to pay a person for manual labor and to pay him fairly for manual labor. Those who have never been engaged in manual labor but who paint pictures with their breath as an artist draws pictures, and has colored them with warm atmosphere, cannot be expected to understand just what is necessary when a man has to bend his back and play upon that musical instrument known as a "shovel" or "spade" or "pick;" and, therefore, I cannot expect the gentleman from Delaware to agree that I am right. But I want to say that I am taken very much by surprise by the gentleman from Delaware because when he objected to this bill between January 19 and March the 3rd, when it came out of committee, I suggested that he makes some amendments that would suit him. I gave him a copy of the bill so he might do so. I even asked him to represent me as my attorney before the committee, if necessary; but, I am sorry to say, on account of illness, he was unable to do so. However, I am glad he is able now to be on the floor and to oppose it, as he has, but I do hope that his objection will not be sustained because I believe this bill has sufficient merit for me to ask that you vote affirmatively, and I ask you to pass this measure.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery

County, Mr. Burd P. Evans, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I assume from the gentleman's remarks that the thought back of this bill is that it will improve the type of men elected supervisors.

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. That is the purpose.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Is there any guarantee in the bill that such a result will come to pass if it is enacted into law?

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. I would not wish to be placed on record as guaranteeing anything for the future. Surely my interrogator cannot imagine that any member of this House can guarantee anything for the future; it can't be done. The wish and the hope is all that we can guarantee, that is the present; the future will take care of itself.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—4

Anderson, Blair, Wood, W. P., Wright,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 323, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and sixteen) entitled "An act relating to husband and wife who are the parents of minor children enlarging and extending the powers control and authority of the mother over their minor children under certain circumstances" giving the mother under all circumstances the same and equal power and rights with the father

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Pitts, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. PITTS. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. This bill provides that the mother and the father shall have the joint use and control of the minor child. "Shall have the same and equal power control and authority over her said child and shall have the same and equal right to its custody and services and earnings as is now by law possessed by her husband who is the father of such minor child." If the child is earning, say ten dollars a week, the employer would have to divide that sum between the mother and the father?

Mrs. PITTS. No.

Mr. TURNER. Why not?

Mrs. PITTS. Because it is not practical, and it would not work that way.

Mr. TURNER. How would you get away from the mandates of this act.

Mrs. PITTS. Why, you as a lawyer ought to know that.

Mr. TURNER. I don't know, that is the reason I am asking the question. Perhaps I had better interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

Mrs. PITTS. I think you had. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Will you answer that question, Mr. Sowers?

Mr. SOWERS. The question you put is whether if the child is earning wages now whether the employer would have to divide the wages. I don't think so. It seems to me that today the law is that if a child is earning wages, the wages belong to the father, but I know of no employer that physically pays the wages to the father. Our practical experience is that the wages are paid to the minor child and the minor child takes the pay envelope home. Now, if there is no father at home to receive it the mother usually gets it.

Mr. TURNER. That may be true in the majority of cases, but under this act would it not put the burden upon the employer to divide the wages?

Mr. SOWERS. The burden is on the employer to pay the father.

Mr. TURNER. That is done in a great many instances.

Mr. SOWERS. But if the father is a deserting father and does not live with his children, certainly the mother ought to be able to recover the wages.

Mr. TURNER. I will agree with you on that, but under this act does it not put a burden upon the employer if it comes to that issue?

Mr. SOWERS. The burden on the employer is no more under this act than what it is today. The child takes the wages home, takes it home to the father in most cases and the mother now actually gets it. The earnings belong to the father under the law as it now is, but why should not the mother that raises the child, and feeds it, and clothes it, and cares of it be entitled to something. The child will take the wages home and if the father is at the door he will get it first, but I think the mother will be on the doorstep.

Mr. TURNER. I think that is true, and I think we all agree with you that the wages of a child or the custody of a child should be jointly held, but suppose the mother serves an employer with notice that she wants one-half of his wages.

Mr. SOWERS. Then the employer will be exactly in the same position he is today. When the father serves notice on the employer to pay the wages to him and the employer knows that the mother is at home keeping the child then he discharges the child and looks for another one to take its place.

Mr. TURNER. Then you have answered the question that it does put the burden on the employer to pay one-half of the wages to the mother?

Mr. SOWERS. The law today does that to the employer. Now, the employer does not really have any more duty put on him. He is taking a chance now. This bill if you will read it carefully is an effort to make the rights between the father and the mother equal. Now, it simply means this: That if the father is a deserting father and the mother maintains her child and there is an accident case, or if they are both living together in the one house and there is an accident case, instead of suing John Jones by his next friend and father William Jones, and William Jones in his own right you will simply say William Jones in his own right and Laura Jones in her right. Then if you win why both of them will be in.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. At the present time who has the custody of that child?

Mr. SOWERS. The right and the custody of the child is always with the father, and yet that rule has many exceptions. The courts of our Commonwealth have said that the primary right or custody is with the father, but the court will always look beyond that right and see which is the best interest of the child.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Correct. Now then, reading the amendment of this bill, don't this take that right out of the power of the court to say what is the best interest of that child? In other words, it reads, "If either the father or the mother desert their child or fail to perform their parental duties the right to the custody," and so forth, "shall belong to the other." I have in mind at the present time a case where the husband deserted his wife, the wife had the custody of the child and the grandmother presented her petition on a writ of habeas corpus to the effect that the daughter was not a fit person to have custody. Under this act, would not the court be helpless in awarding that child to a proper person for the best interests of that child?

Mr. SOWERS. Well, the court could make a decree, which the court would have a right to do, even if this law was on the statute books.

Mr. ALEXANDER. But would it, when the act of Assembly says the custody shall be in the other one. I think it ties the hands of the court in that instances, and isn't it worse for the child in the long run?

Mr. SOWERS. The only way I can answer that is in this way: That when you have a will you must read from the four corners to get the meaning. Now you cannot take just this act alone, you must take all the law, and where both parents desert the child, then, of course, the custody of the child will pass to such person as the court may fix.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I direct your attention to the old act, and you will notice there in the old act the proviso is cut out "Provided however that the mother of such minor child is otherwise qualified as a fit and proper person to have the control and custody of said child." Now, by this amendment you are really cutting that out. Do you think that is in the interests of the child to have that proviso cut out?

Mr. SOWERS. Well, possibly it might be better to include the father with the mother. If a father is not a fit person he ought to be cut out too.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, with the permission of the sponsor of the bill, I move that it be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mrs. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

Mr. BIDELESPACHER. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the sponsor of this bill and in fairness to him, I move that it be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.
